With ghosts, dances, friday the 13th and Thanksgiving, October and November dropped by for their annual sojourns.

"Greylock Mansion" performed at the Frosh-Soph Mixer on October 1. The next night, the Girls' League Box Supper was held. The Dardanaires and Red Cross Council sponsored a childrens' program and Halloween party for Indian children, respectively, in late October. Concert Choir presented "An Evening on Broadway" October 27-28.

"Up the Down Staircase" was presented early in November by the drama classes. On November 4, the String Orchestra Festival, featuring the Catalina, Rincon and Pala Verde orchestras, was held. Performing November 10, the orchestra and choral groups presented the Fall Concert. Friday the 13th arrived with Homecoming and the CHS-Douglas game. On November 17, CHS hosted a fine arts workshop.

Old-fashion festivities deliver holiday cheer

How long has it been since Christmas meant getting together with your friends and family to string popcorn, trim a tree and sings carols?

With this in mind, Student Council sponsored a new event to increase holiday spirit. "An Old-Fashioned Christmas" brought traditional yuletide activities as well as the crowning of the Torch King and Queen and a play presented by the Thespians. The festivities were held on December 16 outside the Boys Gym.

The following evening was the annual Winter Concert. The choirs and archestra presented songs of the holiday season in "Christmas 1970." On December 18, the last school day of 1970, the program was presented for the student body in the gym. The assembly featured a solo performance of "Silent Night" by a member of the Tucson Boys Chorus.

December also opened the basketball season and fans saw the cagers fromp the 1970 state champion Sahuaro 77-55.

The second annual Student Faculty Forum on December 9-10 brought students and faculty together to discuss problems and concerns of Catalina.

The drama production, "Black and White" opened January 12, succeeded by the dance-drama presentation "Experiment in Theater" held the 20th and 21st. Ending a long semester, exam week arrived, topped with the showing of "Cool Hand Luke."

A new semester and a new month of activities began with All-City Band and district soloensemble competition. Valentine Day abservance became obvious with Love-O-Grams. # Rodeo, Dear Weeks add life to boring days

As Rodeo and Dear Weeks approached, students anticipated a break from the hum-drum monotony encountered as the year progressed.

Three fun-filled days preceded a two-day Rodeo vacation. During lunch on Manday, sophomores and seniors pulled together to win a tug-of-war against frosh and juniors. Tuesday, most people arrived in the proper attire for Grub Day, but junior marshalls were still on the lookaut for anyone ignoring "Rodeo Week Law."

Highlighting the spring sports assembly on Wednesday, rodeo royalty was announced and the junior class float, "Territorial Prison," was christened by TV personality Dr. Igor. That evening a cowboy dinner of barbequed beans and cole slaw was prepared and the annual Rodeo Dance, featuring the Wooden Indian, followed.

Spring fever caught the boys unaware when Dear Week arrived. The girls took the opportunity to express their secret admiration by tagging their men. Kite flying, pie throwing and jamming at a "Coffee House" were added to the traditional activities—a Box Supper and the Dear Week Dance, at which the Dear King was crowned.

Troy fun-filled days in March, April

Amid music festivals, Dear Week and Senior Capers, Trojans had no trouble enjoying themselves during March and April despite the mid-semester blahs.

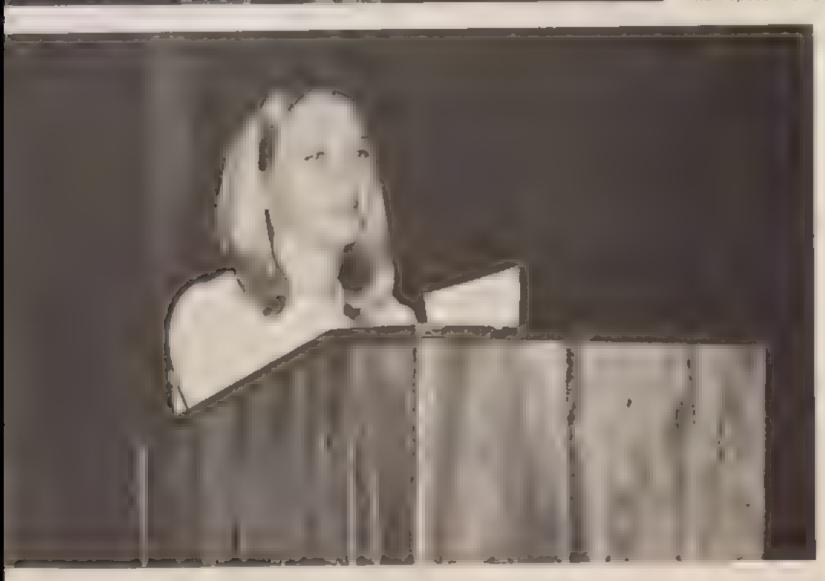

March was a musical month as was demonstrated on the 4th by the Greater Tucson Band Festival and Choral Classics. Also, the All-State Concert on March 14 featured successful band, orchestra and choir candidates.

Dear Week, March 15-19, brought five days of activities intended to raise money for AFS.

"Let's Get Together" served as the theme for Senior Capers, presented April 1-2, while spring vacation, April 9-12 provided students with a welcome holiday.

The CHS Area Choral Festival was held April 28, featuring the combined choirs of schools feeding into Catalina.

Lure of summer catches students

Lured by suntans, swimming pools and the leisure-filled days of summer, Trojans found studying for up-coming finals difficult in May and June.

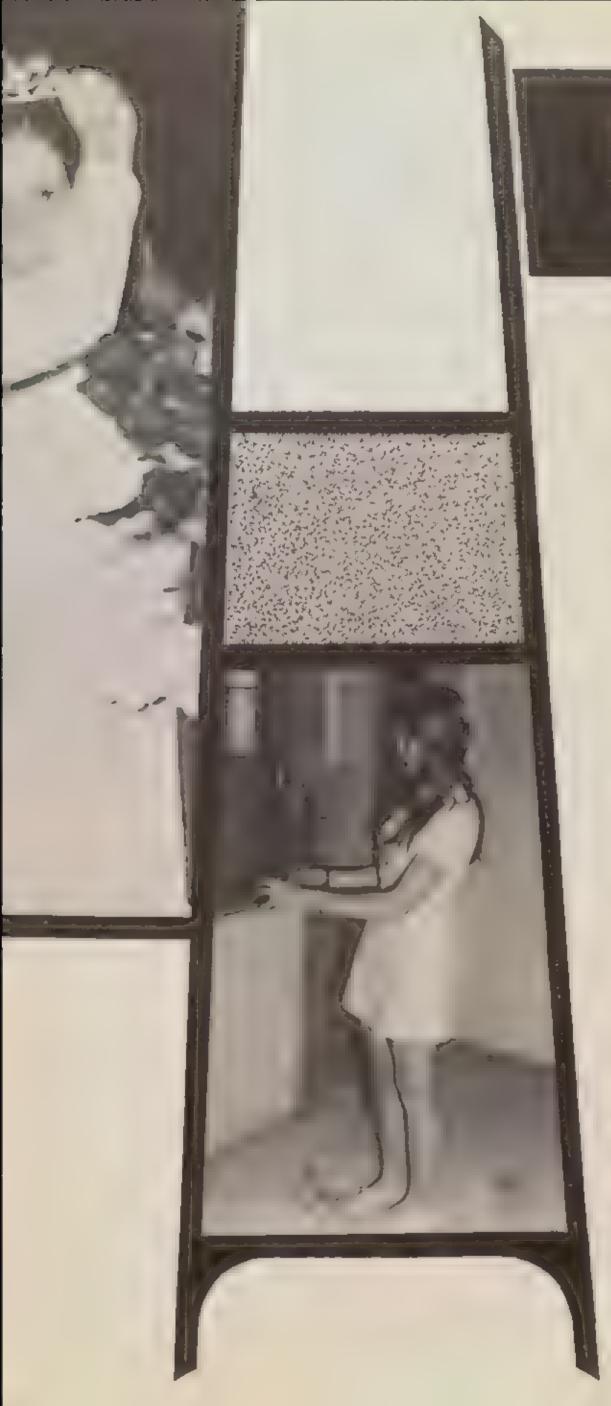

May was highlighted by the Dardanaire concert May 6, the final choir and drama productions of the year during the week of May 18 and the second off-campus Prom May 22. Camplete with hot buttered popcorn and cartoons, "Wait Until Dark," sponsored by the Sophomore Advisory Board, was shown May 14.

June arrived with the Torch Signing Party June 4 and graduation on June 10.

Insight, understanding acquired by delegates

Actual involvement in the government and society of today are experiences several CHS students encountered through Boys and Girls State, Anytown and the Human Relation Conference

Campaigning, speaking and reasoning are just a few challenges that faced Girls and Boys State delegates during one week sessions last summer. Along with attaining offices, students planned a budget and became the "establishment."

Anytown participants spent a week in the Prescott pines where they sang folk songs and learned to clarify ideas and convictions. Relevant world and family problems were also discussed.

Students from all over the state met in Glendale on November 14 for the Human Relations Conference. By listening to different speakers and forming discussion groups, delegates gained insight into recent issues.

Exchange students encounter

Having been accustomed to raw fish with rice and sukiyaki, Miho Sonehara, Catalina's AFS'er from Yokohama, Japan, finds the switch to cheeseburgers and tacos a strange but pleasant one

Besides the change in food, Miho has encountered differences in transportation and customs during her stay in Tucson

For instance, in order to get to school in Japan she must travel by train, bus and foot—a trip of an hour and a half

Miho's family in Yokohama still practices many ancient customs. It is common to find shoes outside the door of the Sonehara home. Also, if you were to meet Miho, she would greet you with a bow ## unusual adventure, another family

Can you imagine getting up in the morning, putting on knee socks, a knee-length dress and rolled-brim hat and wearing all this to school?

AFS American's Abroad student Carol Gilman did just that during her stay in Johannesburg, South Africa this summer

Though she found few differences otherwise, she soon discovered a great contrast in racial attitudes. Carol was surprised to find apartheid, the complete separation of the Negro and white races, such a common part of daily life. Visiting several of the all-black schools, she wished she could have mingled more freely with this segment of the population.

While attending a Catholic parochial school, Carol spoke several times to classes about life in the U.S. In addition, she found time to go picture hunting on safaris and swim in the Indian Ocean.

Inflation challenges School Board

Dealing with increasingly inflated funds, the District 1 School Board is faced with reducing graduation requirements and limiting the curriculum

To combat this inflation, the Board has already increased the student-teacher ratio and eliminated many classes. Chinese, other foreign languages and subtects in which few students are interested have been dropped Headed by President Katie Dusenberry, the Board consists of five members elected for staggered five-year terms. They work with three administrators to form policies and make decisions concerning expenditures and curriculum. Policies are proposed by the Board, while the Administration carries them out.

Hendrickson combats drug abuse

In his second year as principal, Derald Hendrickson found drug abuse and rapidly changing educational needs to be Catalina's major concerns. Though only a partial solution to these problems, Mr. Hendrickson attempts to have continual rapport with students.

Realizing the drug problem Mr. Hendrickson believes that control is best gained by students taking a stand. With this in mind, he instituted Student Council drug abuse programs directly involving the student body

Also, Mr. Hendrickson would like to place more emphasis on non-college preparatory courses, creating new educational opportunities.

After 20 years in education, Mr. Hendrickson's background includes ten teaching years, the chairmanship of the Math Department at Tucson High and seven years as assistant principal there

Mr. Fithian is the head of the attendance, registrars and counselors offices and arranges teachers' class schedules. Mr. Meenan supervises dances and assemblies. Also president of the Rotary Club, he handles all student activities.

It's common knowledge that Deans Gale Bell and Pat Hale handle discipline problems. Few people realize, however, that Miss Hale prepares a monthly calendar and arranges book loans or that Mr Bell is a member of the Student-Faculty Relations Committee.

Counselors give aid; defy numbers racket

1 student | 1 problem 1 counselor - 450 students 1 counselor | 450 problems

Solving problems is the whole idea behind counseling. A counselor must have a general knowledge of many subjects in addition to being a vocational and educational specialist

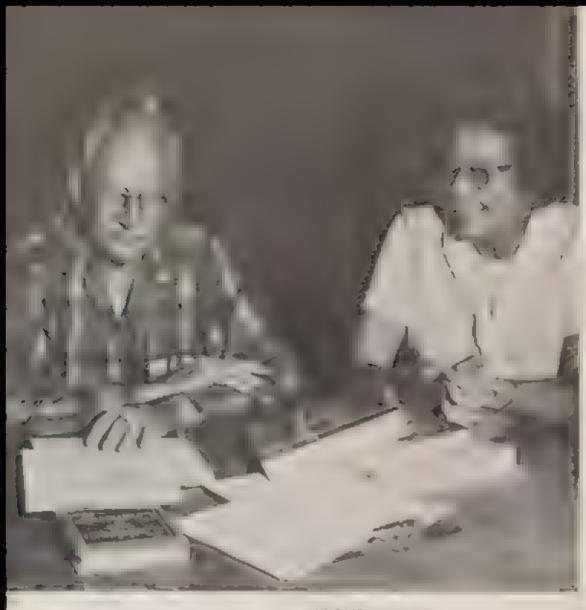

Recommending classes and providing occupational information are two ways counselors assist students during their school years. In an effort to develop concepts that will be useful after graduation, counselors plan a curriculum parallel to individual interests

Various exams for those entering colleges may be obtained through the counselors' office. Listings of local and out-of-state admissions and scholarships, including financial aid to all Arizona colleges, are also available.

Besides their regular duties, three counselors also serve as class advisers.

Sights and sounds of an audio-visual aids department, including a selection of records, tapes and film strips, have been added to the library this year.

In addition, the department provides students and teachers with film projectors and video tape players. A departmental supervisor, Mr. Carlos Castro, is now available to suggest materials that will supply information and add dimension to fact. Mr. Castro also operates the equipment and recommends additions to the department.

Along with this collection of audio-visual aids, new books, paperbacks, and periodicals are constantly being included in the library's warehouse of knowledge.

Increased demands for art and music have led to the expansion of the Fine Arts Department.

Enlarged enrollment and interest in art have necessitated three more classes this year—two general art courses and a craft class. The service of a part-time teacher also became essential. New dimensional art courses, including arts and crafts such as weaving, ceramics and sculpturing, were also added.

In addition, a stage band has been initiated for advanced jazz players as well as a beginning band for amateur players. Music theory may be rescheduled for 1970-71 after this year's cancellation.

Social studies change proposed

Proposing to expand American history to sophomores, the Social Studies Department hopes to increase student awareness of world problems through programs such as Model United Nations.

American history, currently offered only to juniors, would be opened to sophomores if the curricular change sought by the department is approved. Then, as juniors, students would take American problems, consisting of one semester of government and one of economics, sociology or world problems. Under this plan, seniors would be freed from a history requirement, leaving time for electives.

Students interested in studying the world today may do so through Mode! UN. Each year, 350 students from Arizona meet at the U of A to pass bills and debate world politics. On December 11-12, the countries of Cambodia, Iraq and Swaziland were represented by Catalina's delegates. The head of political affairs for the UN was the conclave's featured speaker.

Department gets COE in 2 shifts

Catalina became the only school in the city this year whose Business Education Department offers Cooperative Office Education (COE) in a double shift. Being involved in this new program means that students may attend classes in either the morning or the afternoon and work for local businesses during the other half of the day.

Previously, classes were conducted only in the morning and jobs were held in the afternoon. Consequently, the plan benefits not only COE participants but also the companies whose main flow of business is in the morning.

Other courses offered within the department are distributive education, business law and typing.

According to Miss Charlotte Proper, department head, the courses give students "something to fall back on after graduation. When no jobs are available, they give kids an alternative."

Other courses affered by the department are home living, which explores family relationships, and child development. At the end of the year, students in these classes run a nursery school.

Unlike other biology classes, the seminar is designed "to learn specifically about Tucson's environment," according to Vermont Follet, seminar teacher. Students study fauna and flora of the desert and interactions among its inhabitants. Once a week students take trips into desert areas collecting foliage and insects.

Physics, chemistry, biology, aeronautics and physical science are also available to the student within the science department

Basic training learned in Drivers' Education, Industrial Arts Depts.

Training in the Industrial Arts and Drivers' Education Departments offers students an opportunity to learn basic skills which will later provide jobs with or without a college degree.

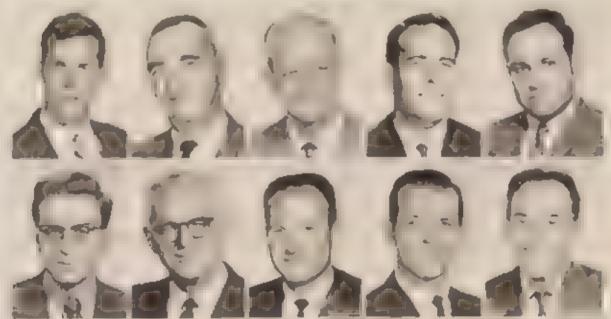

Instructors from all parts of Arizona gathered at Catalina to discuss new methods and techniques of teaching during the Practical Arts Conference in April.

Applying these ideas, the department is planning a sciencecredited electricity-electronics class which would cover the same material as a second-semester physics class. Other courses are sheet metal, auto and machine shop, welding, graphic arts, drafting, woodworking and general metals.

The Drivers' Education Department offers drivers' training—inthe-car-instruction and drivers' education which teaches the fundamentals of driving in class.

Providing students with a background in driving the department added simulators this year. These devices allow behind-the-wheel practice while in the classroom.

According to driving instructor Clyde Phillips, "As the population increases, specialized drivers will be needed for professional use. Our job will be to train students for these trades."

Trojans drop to Tucson in opener

After losing a 41-0 season opener to Tucson, a team that went on to win the state title, the gridders traveled to Sahuaro seeking their first win, which they almost didn't get.

The score in that game remained 0-0 until the fourth quarter, when Peirce and Kellogg rolled up a touchdown opiece to put the game out of reach for the Cougars. The defense held until the clock ran out.

Troy's fortunes continued as the team faced Rincon. Managing only one touchdown late in the fourth quarter, Rincon fell before the Trojan onslaught.

Ranked the best game of the season, the Amphi contest saw the gridders score twice in a single sixminute period. A 55-yard bomb set up the field for the first touchdown. When the Panthers received the ball, they got nowhere against the Trojan defense and were forced to punt from the 15-yard line. Fleischhauer blocked the kick and Scott Kellner picked up the ball and pushed it through to win the game. With their record at 3-1, things began to look bright for Catalina football.

Troy hits peak; skids downward

Troy had now reached the peak of its success and the rest of the season proved to be a downward plunge for the gridders

When the Salpointe Lancers speared CHS 26-13, the averall record dropped to 3-2 and the race for the league title began.

The Trojans now took on Palo Verde. Catalina lead three different times during the game but couldn't keep the Titans from racking up a 28-16 victory

The game with Pueblo momentarily upped Trojan spirits. The offense ramped up and down the field with ease, providing an impressive 28-6 win.

In the following contest, CHS was expected to murder Sunnyside. It was a murder, but of a different sort, with the Blue Devils winning because of a fumble and a kickoff returned for a touchdown.

The record now stood at 4-4 and Troy had to beat Douglas or wind up with a losing season. The gridders rarely penetrated the 20-yard line and the Bulldags controlled the field, though not scoring. During the last minute of play, Douglas made it to the 14-yard line and kicked a field goal as the last four seconds ticked off the clock. CHS lost to the poorly-ranked Bulldags, 3-0, and ended with a losing season.

Young gridders lack teamwork

With both the JV (2-6-1) and Frosh (2-6) grid team posting losing seasons, the games showed outstanding individuals but a lack of teamwork.

The greatest asset to the JV team was an outstanding defense, with linebacker Brad Nelson leading the attack. "The defensive team played well enough to win every game," stated Coach Ted James. "It was the offense that let us down." Three of the games which ended in defeat for the gridders, were lost in the last minutes of play.

Lack of size and experience was a hindrance of the start of the season for the frosh team but according to Coach Bob Fitzgerald, "because of desire and determination, they were able to come on at the end." The team proved this in the final play of the last game when the Douglas quarterback was tackled in his own end zone for a safety to win the game for Troy.

When CHS made its way to Amphi, revenge was in the air and the Trojan five ended up on the winning side by defeating the Ponthers in a triple overtime game 62-61.

The conference games began and found the Trojans playing in their fickle style. The opening test in conference play came against a weaker Salpointe ball club. The men of Troy lost to the Lancers 52-62.

Following the first conference loss, CHS put things together and played better basketball. They slew the league favorite Palo Verde 63-54. Frank Trafford led the team in scoring with his season high of 23 points.

The 1970-71 basketball season was one of heartbreak for the JV (8-12) and freshmen (4-14) cagers.

The JV's were hindered by the loss of sophomores Terry Campillo and Jeff Robb to the varsity, leaving limited material to work with. "Bob Henss, Randy Wedding and Tom Davenport did a really fine job though," commented Coach Scott Pickart.

Lack of rebounding obstructed the freshmen. Coach Robert Bruce remarked, "Our offensive weakness provided us with only a few shots per game."

season of great expectations

Even though Pip is replaced by pep on the JV and frosh baseball squads, great expectations is the theme for this year's season.

With fine talent up from the frosh, JV Coach Jack Geary is looking forward to a great year with depth in both infield and outfield. The big question, however, will be pitching.

Sporting "the most enthusiastic freshman ball club I've had in years," Coach Richard Schmieder expects a winning season earned by good personnel in every position. The team's nucleus is the pitching staff with solid prospects in Charles Saunders and Danny McGuire.

Individuals key to winning season

Individual strength will be the key to a successful season for the JV and freshman tracksters.

In the eyes of rookie coach Dick Barham, strong performances in the track events should overshadow the inexperienced personnel in the field events. Both teams have a lot of hustle and the will to win.

Returning from last year's 9-1 freshman squad, the JV cindermen have the potential to finish first in the city. The freshmen, however, will suffer from lack of experience in most events.

Despite the reality of a 1-7 losing season, the cross country team sparkled with a prospective champion in junior Bobby Abril.

Hampered by a lack of depth, the Trojan distancemen faced a building year. Stopping Salpointe in a triangular meet which also included Flowing Wells, the team gained its only victory of the season. In that meet, Abril landed a first place backed by number two man Tom Mobley's fifth place.

The best performance of the year came when Abril paced himself around Catalina's Pontatoc Course in 10:38, setting a new Trojan record.

look toward next year

Despite the grim reality of a rock-bottom 0-11 losing season, the varsity grapplers find hope in the prospect of next year and the return of experienced lettermen

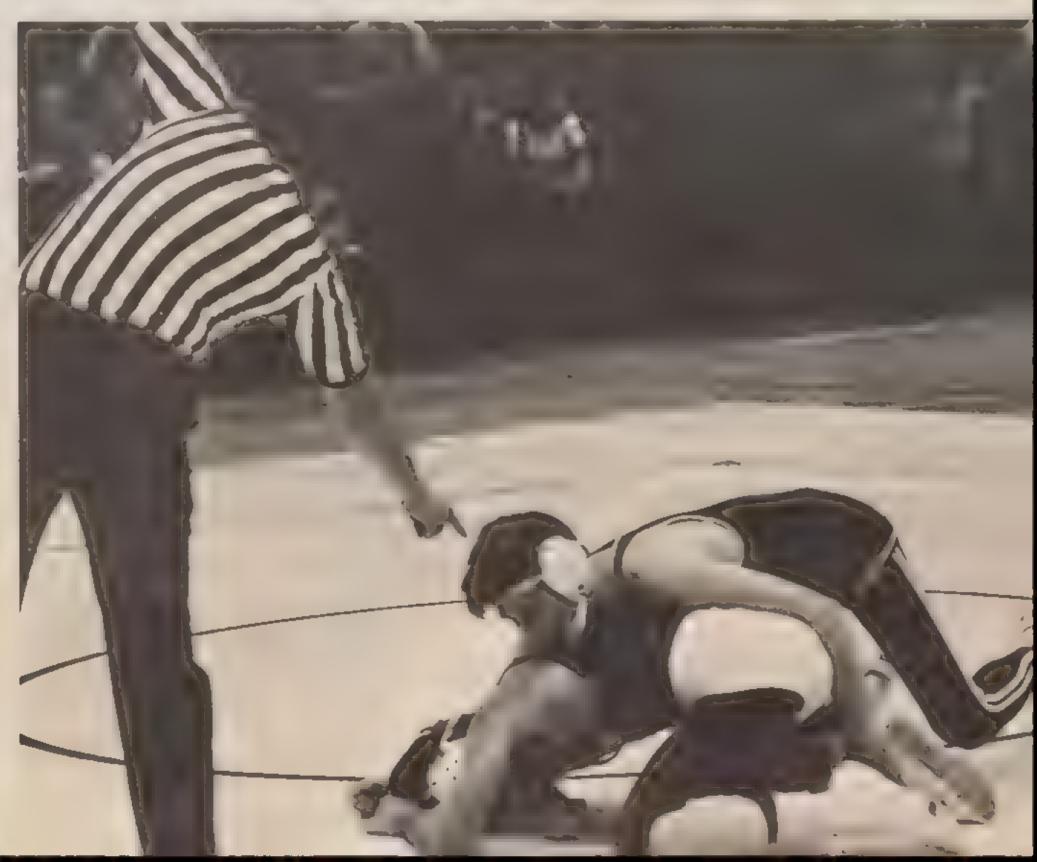

Great sacrifices in weight reduction by Bill Coran (158 lbs.) and the dedication and dependability of Walk Perry led Coach Barney Patton to name them among this year's outstanding wrestlers. Also selected were Gus Lemke, Catalina's only district winner who placed third in that meet, and Jack Kurz (185 lbs.), wrestling 20 pounds under his normal weight.

Inexperience was the greatest contributing factor to the disappointing record. "They have gotten some good experience and of course they will be better next year," predicts Coach Patton

With only one senior, Lemke, leaving the squad, the grapplers will sport six returning lettermen

Following the pattern set by the varsity grapplers, both the JV (2-6) and freshmen (3-5) wrestling squads posted losing seasons.

In the only two wins of the year, the JV matmen scored sound victories over Amphi and Salpointe. Joe Schmieder (121 lbs.) remained undefeated all season. Youth and good attitude, according to Coach Barney Patton, were the team's major assets.

With four starters returning from last year's division championship team, the future for Catalina's netters promises a strong finish in the State Tennis Tournament in Phoenix.

Ken McGlamery, Sam Mc-Glamery, Mark Nelson, Dave Shirley, Paul Holbrook and Carroll Reiblich will be pulling the load on the courts this year.

After starting the year with seven straight victories, Coach Robert Lohse has high hopes for his team. Coach Lohse, a former U of A netter, replaces Mr. Ken Fones, who left CHS after five years. He is now coaching at rival THS He is also pleased with team spirit and the desire of each

According to Coach Lohse, Tucson High is the team to beat if CHS is to have a seventh straight division title.

Intramural play granted to Troy

Interested in sports rather than eating, many boys participate in intramurals held during the second lunch period. The program was reinstated at student request after a three year lapse

Included among the sports offered are basketball, volleyball, ping-pong and weight lifting. Using this extra half-hour of activity, boys are able to improve skills and coordination

Besides competition in school, students have organized five basketball teams that play almost every weekend.

Cheering for her favorite tackle or asking "What's a rebound?" aren't the limits of a girl's interest in sports.

Troy's female population contends for AAA Division Championships, marches in parades, bats tennis balls from court to court, perfects cartwheat on the balance beam and seceives the 'Girl of the Year' award.

The Girls P.E. Department offers interscholastic volleyball, gympostics and tennis besides intramural basketball, speedaway and softball. All of these improve coordination, sportsmanspip and friendship.

Greatly aiding the varsity girl netters by utilizing an experienced sixth player in divisional meets, tennis point count for interscholastic meets was changed to nine points this year.

Formerly, school matches were seven-point, requiring five girls, and the team had to recruit an inexperienced JV player to compete in the nine-point divisionals, which require six players. A sixth girl must now play varsity all year, preparing her for divisionals.

Another factor in the team's favor is a well-balanced squad of Ann Hoshaw, Melissa Kyros, Lisha Allen, Eliza Cutcher, Gail Gibbons and Carol Merritt. Confident of a winning season, Coach Frances Curtis stated, "We're hoping to improve the record of last year (14-5) which was very good."

If victorious in divisional playoffs, the team anticipates a journey to the Phoenix Tennis Center to vie for the AAA state championships in May.

Gymnasts seek 2nd place finish in division meet

Earning a third place in the divisional meet last year, the girls gymnastics team increased its expectations this season and hopes for a second place

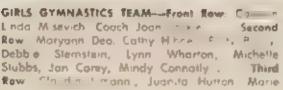

"All I can expect is for the girls to do their best," remarked Coach Joan Lackie. The mentor sees improvement in all events, with balance beam the strongest point and vaulting the weakest.

Serving as tri-captains, Emilie Crouch, Mindy Connally and Linda Misevich lead the team. Holding all-round positions are Emilie Crouch and Debbie Sternstein. All-round participant Linda Misevich tore ligaments in her knee and will only compete in floor exercises. Jan Carey and Patti Brady head the squad in floor exercise and vaulting.

With upcoming freshmen and sophomores as well as returning juniors, next year's team promises to be a bright spot in girl's sports.

Winning the girls volleyball Southern Division AAA Championship doesn't depend on a team's season's record

Proving this point, the team, after posting a less than outstanding 8-2 record, went on to capture the title

In order to win in the playoffs, the girls, led by co-captains Rita Clark and Betsy Davis, defeated Amphi, Sahuara and Tucson in three consecutive matches. For divisional play, Betsy Davis was selected the best player

"Beating Tucson was our most exciting win because we lost to them during the regular season. It climaxed the season," says coach Miss Mary Hines

More activities planned for girls thru intramurals

Although girls intramurals is no new addition to the P.E. Department's curriculum, this year the program has been expanded to include more sports.

The alteration has allowed for greater participation and recognition for girls involved in valleyball, basketball, softball, speed-away, hockey, badminton and other sports.

Teams formed in regular P.E. classes battle each other for class titles, later competing against winners from other periods. After Catalina competition is completed, teams vie against other school teams on sports days held on weekends throughout the year.

Sponsoring the activities, CHS P.E. teachers coordinate and referee the tournaments both at Catalina and at the sports days.

As "Sock it to 'em now, one more time... hey, hey, hey" rumbles through the crowd, the pepleaders cheer the Trojans and the Trojan team on to victory.

Composed of all new members, the songleading squad performs various routines at football and basketball games.

By originating chants and movements, the varsity cheerleaders motivate the student body toward more school spirit.

Besides pep leading, the songleaders and cheerleaders compete in the U of A and ASU band days. They also march in the Rodeo and Veterans' Day Parades.

To meet the demands of popular trends in today's music, a Stage Band, featuring jazz, blues and rock, was instituted this year within the band curriculum.

This newest band, which was initially beset by scheduling problems, finally got on the road. Traveling to Flagstaff, the 24-members participated in the NAU Stage Band Festival.

Other classes in band training are available to develop a musician's talent to the level of Stage Band. Beginning Band is open to those with no previous experience while Concert Band is composed of people who have played for a few years.

The next step up the ladder is Symphonic Band, membership of which is determined by auditions. Members also perform at concerts and pep rallies.

Spending a day at the U of A, the Marching Band competed against 40 other high schools on Band Day. For its eight-minute half-time show, Catalina received a "superior" rating.

Choirs lay foundation for next step

While preparing for advanced musical work, students in the Beginning Boys and Girls Choirs develop a basic foundation of music.

With only one public concert, students learn proper choral attitude and technique without the pressures of performing. In addition, the necessity for good sight-reading is stressed.

Choosing to continue in the program, students with the musical background acquired in the beginning choirs may progress into one of the advanced choirs.

Bleary-eyed students creep to school every morning at 7 a.m to take courses in journalism, organic gardening, knitting, playwriting, macrame, seamanship, business law and home mechanics. The reason for this madness? Minicourses

Mini-courses, instituted this year, are designed to provide both students and faculty with an opportunity for learning unusual skills as well as subjects supplementary to the current curriculum. Both students and faculty members can either enroll in and/or teach a mini-course providing they have enough information and knowledge on a particular subject to warrant a successful mini-course

"Checkmate!" sounds the cry of victory as a Chess Club member conquers the kingdom of his opponent

Skill, patience and an understanding of the world of chess are essential elements in playing the mental tug-o'-war. Originating cunning moves and faking diversions are among the many tactics employed by chess players.

Tournament berths used in inter-club matches are decided on the basis of skill, concentration and the quality of a player's strategies. These interscholastic contests, this year between Palo Verde, Tucson High and Amphitheater, afford apportunities for Chess Club members to display their talents.

Held at one of the officers' houses, the Pot Luck Dinner is the club's annual festivity. Each member brings a foreign food, creating an international variety of tastes.

To satisfy the increased interest in photography, film producing and the equipment involved in these, the Film and Projectionists Clubs were organized this year

Meeting outside of school, film club members explore new camera techniques to acquire desired photographic proficiency. Once a month, students produce a film, usually less than ten minutes in length, using personal, as well as borrowed and rented equipment and cameras. As an example of the year's efforts, the club presented a color movie to the public

By setting up the film and running the projectors whenever needed, the Projectionists Club saves time for many teachers. At least one member of the club is available each period of the day. The club also supplies music and lighting during assemblies

Kids get around by skiing, hiking

Outdoor activity and fun, including several overnight excursions, fill the hours of participation in the Ski and Hiking Clubs.

Beginning with a fall hike on the slopes of Mt. Lemmon, Ski Club members took overnight trips to various resort areas. Two days and one night were spent at Flagstaff and Mt. Lemmon.

At meetings, movies are shown to help kids improve their skiing techniques. Equipment purchased this year includes 12 pairs of skiis. In addition, 35 complete outfits are owned by the organization and rented to members.

Included in the first meetings of the Hiking Club, formally known as the Catalina Spelunking and Rock Climbing Association, lessons in rappelling and knot-tying were given by experienced hikers. Starting early in the day with sack lunches and plenty of water, hikes were taken to Arivaipa Canyon, Agua Caliente, Tabletop and Rincon Peak.

It only figures, Math Club finds ciphers solvable

Club members started a year of field trips by attending the Granite Computer Institute. There they gained insight into the future of the computer and its growing significance in the modern business world.

Members also visited Dean Witter's Stock Brokerage House where they learned how to interpret the daily listing of the stock and bond averages and how to invest wisely on the basis of these listings.

Matching wits with computers, members spent the afternoon at Kitt Peak Computer Center playing games of chess and rounds of tic-tac-toe with the electronic wizards.

During club meetings, the students experimented with one-armed bandit gambling machines, exploring the law of averages. Serving the non-math oriented students, club members also tutored before semester examinations.

This could be the result of participation in the newly-formed Karate Club. Along with basic self-defense, students learn the most sophisticated art of physical exercise while increasing their ability to concentrate. Before actual workouts, members go through sessions of instruction.

The club's members include black and arange belt holders. These people assist the sponsors by giving demonstrations.

Officiating scores at athletic events, ushering at school programs and helping with Student Federation elections are among the services provided by Trojettes.

During wrestling, swimming, gymnostics, track and baseball seasons, members tally scores for interscholastic contests. In addition, the club sponsors social activities for students involved in these sports.

As well as assisting with the seating of visitors at school speech tournaments, Trojettes ushered at Parents' Visitation Night and also helped during pep rallies.

During elections, the club informs the student body about candidates running for Federation office by writing and distributing pamphlets.

Providing all Catalina girls with a club, Girls League began the year's activities with its annual Coke Party and Fashion Show. Old and new friends were acquainted while the Simplicity Pattern Company provided a preview of many upcoming styles.

A Dad-Daughter Box Supper was next on the agenda and fathers had a night out with their "little girls." Prizes were awarded for the most originally decorated dinner boxes, football cheers were taught and peep-hole pictures of dad and daughter were taken.

In keeping with tradition, Girls League set up collection boxes throughout the school for the "Toys for Tots" drive. The toys collected were then turned over to the Lettermans Club and as a result, Catalina again challenged the KTKT 99'ers in the Kumquat Bowl.

DECA, COE expand work programs

Increased schedule and job flexibility provides students of Distributive Education (DE) and Cooperative Office Education (COE) with new opportunities for learning the fundamentals of good salesmanship and sound business practice

Stressing public relations, the most important factor of good salesmanship, DE this year instituted a speaker's bureau. The bureau allowed students to visit business organizations and schools while promoting DE and gaining speaking experience.

Specializing in secretaral training, COE members for the first time this year had the option of morning or afternoon work schedules. During class time, members donated their services to the March of Dimes letter campaign and Elks Club along with office work for other charitable organizations.

Gaining knowledge by working with people, the Red Cross and Human Relations Clubs establish a foundation for students interested in social work.

During the year, Red Cross provided services for needy individuals. As part of their activities, members gave a Halloween party for students at Richey Elementary School. In addition they created centerpieces for the Santa Rosa Nursing Home and sponsored the "Letters to Hanoi" campaign.

Members of the Human Relations Club sponsored a Christmas party, including caroling and a present exchange, for needy children at Ory Park. Many clubs brag about the service they provide, but three groups—Service Council, hall monitors and library pages—spend all their time in service to the school

In an effort to live up to the "service" in its name, Service Council initiated a guide system for new students. Members of the Council also serve as volunteers at Tucson General Hospital.

Because of the institution of the cooperative halls system, hall monitors became largely responsible for the continuance of this freedom. It is their duty to see that passage through the halls is quiet.

With the newly gained Audio-Visuals Aids Department, library pages acquired new responsibilities in the assistance they give the student body Magazine check-outs are among their duties.

In addition, visitation days are scheduled at schools, enabling members to observe work in the classroom. Math tutoring is also provided for grade school children Mondays and Thursdays after school.

Although formed to honor outstanding scholars, National Honor Society (NHS) is actively involved with matters of the school and community.

Tutoring is one of the major services provided by the organization. Anyone who is doing poorly in a certain class or is worried about passing an exam can receive help for 50 cents an hour.

In addition, members created and operated a cornival booth for Dear Week. They also sponsored a float for the Homecoming parade, held a clean-up campaign and worked to raise money for a gift to the school

Plans for a district-wide convention open to all high school Honor Societies and a seminar to acquaint junior initiates with NHS regulations are currently being considered by the group's officers.

Journalists 'right on' with Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll, an organization with chapters all over the world, was formed to honor high school journalists whose achievements have been particularly outstanding.

To be eligible for membership, a person must be a member of either the Torch or Trump staffs, a junior or senior and rank in the upper one-third of his class. In addition, he must be recommended by his adviser and be approved by the national executive secretary and the other members of Quill and Scroll.

Members are initiated by the adviser and club officers. The ceremony, featuring a talk by a professional journalist, is held twice a year, ance at the year's start and once in the spring.

NFL presents only high school charter to CHS

Privileges of voting in matters concerning the National Forensic League (NFL) and of entering an unlimited number of contestants in forensic tournaments are among the rights granted to the CHS chapter of NFL on receipt of a charter this year.

The charter was the only one available for Arizona high schools for the year 1970-1971. Formerly, Catalina's chapter had just affiliate status with the honorary organization and could send only a limited number of students to meets.

NFL membership is determined by the speakers who have already been initiated. To be eligible for acceptance, a speech student must have 25 forensic points which are obtainable by participating in speaking events. The more points a person has, the higher his ranking in the club.

The purpose of the League is to further an interest in speech and to recognize superior achievement.

Over 1500 toys were collected by the group to win the city-wide contest. This was the second year that the Lettermen played the disc jockeys in a game of flag football this time winning 26-13 on the CHS field.

By sponsoring social functions and selling programs at football games, members earn enough money to supply teams with equipment. During Christmas, extra help at the Tucson Community Center was volunteered by the organization. Instituting changes to update Catalina's newspaper, the award-winning Trumpeteer gained increased recognition from local and national newsmedia.

Modifications initiated this year included a changed headline style and the removal of column rules. Both measures add white space to the page.

Adoption of these changes was not motivated by necessity, however, as was evidenced by praise from District 1. The Arizona Daily Star and Channel 6. In addition, editors were interviewed for the special program "Rapping With Brinkley," a televised discussion between high school journalists and the noted commentator.

The Trump again received the highest awards possible for a high school paper. These included a Medalist from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, an All-American from the National Scholastic Press Association and top honors from Quill and Scroll.

Graffiti written on picnic tables; stuffed in lockers

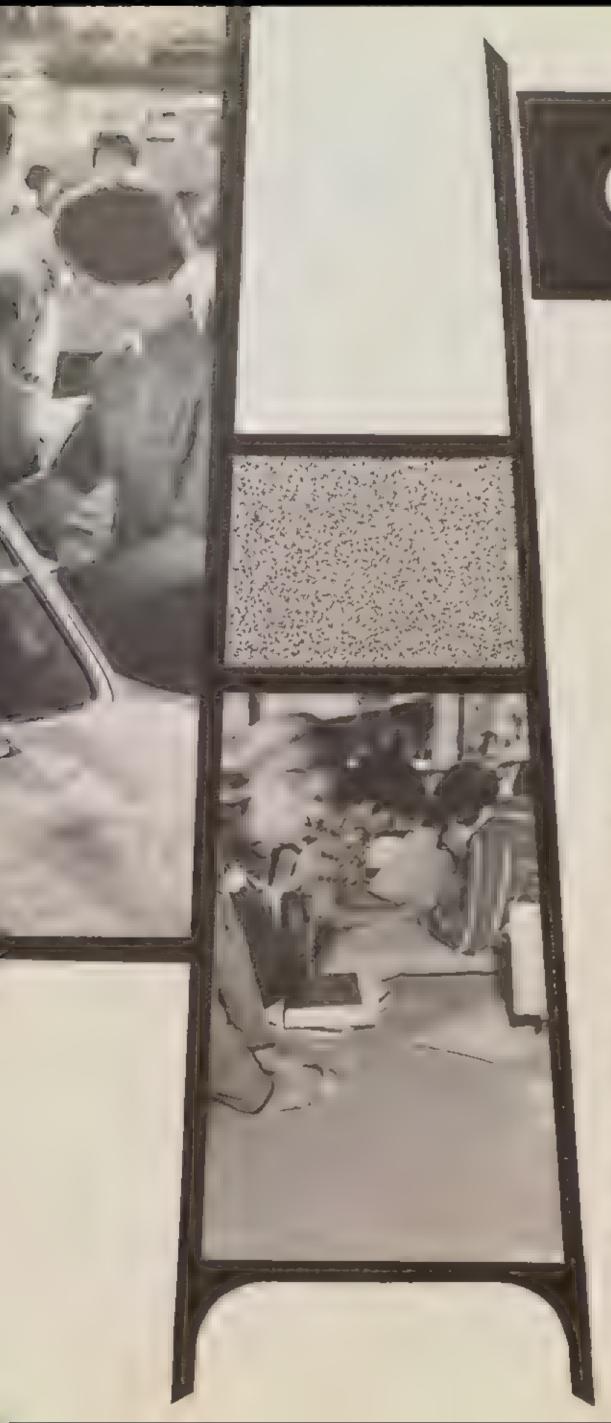

Graffiti is often seen written on bathroom walls, scratched on picnic tables and inscribed upon trees. But at Catalina, it is seen stuffed in lockers and clutched in students' hands—the Graffiti being this year's literary magazine

For the first time, selections of prose, poetry, art and photography were available to the student body in two separate bound editions.

Students were urged, through contests and the lure of reward, to submit their original efforts to Graffiti. These contributions were collected, judged by Graffiti editors and the best material was given to the committee that draws up the magazine's layouts and puts the selections into print.

Student government employs 'third time charm' for Senate

With the addition of Student Senate this year, Catalina's student government increased the scope of its ideas to reach more of the student body

"The third time's the charm" or so hope members of Student Senate. Twice previously, Catalina initiated a Senate program and then was forced to disbond it due to lack of leadership and interest. This year with the Federation vice-president's guidance, the organization coordinated the Christmas family project, collecting clothing and food for the needy.

Heading the list of Student Council endeavors was a final exam exemption plan, excusing anyone with a "1" average at the teacher's discretion. After a year's contraversy, the project passed.

Another branch of government is Student Court. This year members wrote and distributed a hand-book for the student body and scheduled all fundraising events.

Varied as 71's class, officers echo interests

As diverse as the Class of '71, the senior officers reflect a wide and different range of interests and hobbies.

If you are going to ask President JON KENT if he enjoys skiing, don't bother. Why else would any red-blooded American boy spend two months of his senior year on crutches? A member of advisory board for three years, Jon was a Human Relations and Student Council Convention delegate and a Rotary Club student of the month. If he lives long enough, Jon plans to attend the U of A, majoring in experimental education or sociology.

With considerably less dangerous interests, Vice-President CURT CRAIG spends much of his free time studying music. The guitar, flute, mandolin and harp are just four examples of his versatile musical interests. Upon graduation, Curt plans to attend Northern Arizona University, majoring in communications or history.

Also planning to attend NAU, secretary CELE UNDERWOOD plans a career as a commercial artist or elementary teacher. With art as her major interest, Cele is a member of art workshop. She is also a songleader and a member of advisory board. Previously, Cele represented Catalina as a delegate to Anytown and the Human Relations Conference

Senior Class solves problems; 'Gets Together' for graduation

Mid-term graduates, half-day students, part-time college attendance and a general diversity of interest plagued many of the Senior Class activities.

Despite these problems, the class managed to pull off most of its regular duties, largely due to the efforts of a few class members and officers

Entitled "Let's Get Together," Senior Capers, after early disorganization, provided the student body with a diverting evening of music and fun.

With the surge of interest in ecology, the Class of 71 sponsored a little-attended clean-up campaign in Sabino Canyon.

Social events on the class's agenda included Homecoming activities and the Junior-Senior Prom.

By far the most popular and best-attended of the class activities were Baccalaureate followed by graduation June 10.

Along with being involved in student government, the Junior Class officers share a variety of interests ranging from sports to school activities and clubs.

If you were looking for President DAVE ROBERT-SON, chances are that you would find him hiking in the Tucson mountains, tubing, swimming or eating a pizza at the Village Inn. A member of the varsity football team, Dave also enjoys reading and taking part in dramatic productions. After graduating he plans to join Vista for two years and then go into teaching or computer programming.

Vice-president FRANK TRAFFORD has been active on Student Council for the past two years. His interests encompass many of the outdoor sports including varsity track, basketball and swim workouts at the YMCA. During the summer and school vacations Frank travels around Arizona when he has the opportunity. Becoming a veterinarian is the career prospect he plans to pursue.

Drama or elementary education top the list of future plans for Secretary PAT OTT. In addition to being a Freshman Class officer, Pat was an active member of Student Council the following year. At school she enjoys fine arts and modern dance while at church she belongs to the youth group and sings in the choir. When she isn't reading Pat often spends an afternoon hiking or tubing down the Gila River

Beginning with soap suds and elbow grease, juniors washed car after car as their first fund-raising project this year.

In addition to this project, profits from which went toward a sound system in the cafeteria, juniors contributed touches of spirit to athletic events. Before football games, juniors could be seen dangling from goal posts attaching streamers

In class competition, juniors came out on top. Collecting over $200 for the Milk Fund Drive, they boosted the school collection and enabled CHS to take first place in the city. A combination of tombstones and bright-colored streamers won the juniors the honor of having the best spirit hall.

As well as independent achievements, the class combined with seniors to plan the prom. Informal get-togethers with juniors from other schools were also planned

Halfway through the year, the juniors encountered their greatest undertaking: Rodeo Week. Class marshalls and sheriffs coordinated activities and created the CHS float for the Rodeo Parade.

Soph officers seek self-expression

Seeking greater self-expression, the Sophomore Class officers pursue their interests through varied organizations and individual activities.

President PATTY GALLIGAN, copy editor of the Torch and business manager of the Trump, plans a career as a trial lawyer. A member of the varsity softball team, she also enjoys spending an afternoon playing tennis or horseback riding in the Tucson desert. In addition to participating in sports, Patty finds time to cook, read and sew her own wardrobe.

Active in SOS, a service organization, Vice-president JEANNIE LEE is a member of Forensic League and the debate team. A Student Council representative in her freshman year, she plans to enter the field of law after attending the University of the South Pacific. In her spare time, Jeannie studies ballet and piano and creates original literature.

Participating in speech meets and Forensic and Girls League activities, Secretary MARIA JORDAN hopes to become a speech therapist or an elementary school teacher. Playing the piano and competing in tennis and swimming are the activities Maria most enjoys. On Saturdays she is an assistant catechism teacher at St. Francis Cabrini Church where she also belongs to CYO.

Three officers share interest in sports, people, Class of '74

With a common interest in sports, people and their class, the freshman officers presided over the Class of '74.

Planning to join the Amigos de las Americas program after her sophomore year, President SABRA PALMER is interested in people. She hopes to travel with either Vista or the Peace Corps after graduation. In addition, she enjoys swimming, hiking, gymnastics and her involvement in Ski Club.

Intending to graduate in three years, Vice-president DICK ARNOLD likes gymnastics, poetry and music, especially playing the guitar. Being a member of The Trumpeteer staff, journalism and social problems also interest him. Traveling to Europe, particularly France and Belgium, heads his plans

Class Secretary PEGGY PEARSON is an active member of her church and CYO, the Christian Youth Organization. She likes ice skating and sewing and she was a member of the freshman volleyball team. She expects to enter elementary education after attending the U of A.

MEMORIES-

- Staring out a geometrical window in spring wondering what, when, where, why . . .
- Becoming endeared to the guy who wears a certain tag . . .
- Retreating within when weary, reflective extending if aglow . . .
- Smashing, crippling an opponent in thought if not deed ...
- Walking hand in hand, mind in mind, through a high school labyrinth . . .
- Marveling at the memorization of functions, vocabulary words . . .
- Looking out and up at the Catalina's thinking life is beautiful . . .
- Holing up like a hermit a Sunday afternoon writing a six weeks paper in a day . . .
- Traversing familiar ramps, stairs, halls to and from learning...
- Anxiously awaiting the close of a year desiring the start of another...
- Sitting on the gym floor in blue and white fingers aching for a ribboned scroll . . .
- Involving a mind and body in Catalina through conscious, unconscious action . . .
- Flying across a concrete campus through a gate into eventuality . . .
